CARRANZA INSISTS U. S. IMMEDIATELY WITHDRAW TROOPS

Mexican Note Claims Words and Protests of American Government
Have Been in Direct Contradiction to Acts

Mexico City, May 31.—Claiming that the words and protests of the United States have been entirely in contradiction of their acts and that in spite of protests not to intervene in the affairs of Mexico, soldiers of the United States are in Mexico without the consent of the Mexican government and in violation of Mexico's sovereignty, the Mexican government now asks for the immediate withdrawal of these troops. The request is made in a 12,000 word note made public at the foreign office today about noon.

Maintaining that the protest of friendship by the United States and the expressed desire for non-intervention has been contradicted by the acts of the Washington government, the note says the time has arrived when Washington must declare itself clearly and unequivocally as toward its future intentions toward Mexico.

After reciting the facts which led to the first crossing of the frontier by the American troops after the Villa raid at Columbus, the note insists that, in contradiction of the word of Generals Scott and Funston, another expedition crossed the boundary line, thus violating all the precepts of international law and committing an act of invasion.

"The American government," says the note, "has admitted that the work of the expedition which entered after the Columbus raid is now over. But in spite of this fact American troops still remain on Mexican soil. To contend that political disorder in this country justifies this act of American military forces is in conflict with the repeated profession of the Washington government relative to non interference."

PLAN FOR NEW ORGANIZATION OF FRISCO APPROVED IN PART

Ninety-Three Per Cent of Shareholders and Nearly as Many Creditors Agree on Scheme.

Jefferson City Mo., June 1.—The Missouri public service commission yesterday announced tentative approval of the new organization plan of the St. Louis & San Francisco railroad, with the exception of the clause providing for trustees to vote the stock of the road.

The voting trust plan probably will be submitted to the supreme court for a decision as to its validity. The public service commission has held in the past that any plan by which the stockholders delegated the control of the road to trustees was illegal.

During the hearing yesterday the attorneys for the New York banking interests that prepared the reorganization plan told the commission that if the voting trust is not approved the reorganizers probably will seek a charter in some other state.

Ninety-three per cent of the Frisco stockholders and 91 per cent of the creditors are said to have agreed to the reorganization plan.

S. O. Levison of Chicago, legal representative for 150,000 shares of stock, including the interests of B. F. Yoakum, told newspaper men that the road is in excellent condition and is destined to become one of the greatest railroad systems in the Southwest.

"Since last October," said Levison, "the earnings have increased steadily, the securities have advanced and there has been an enormous reduction in fixed charges."

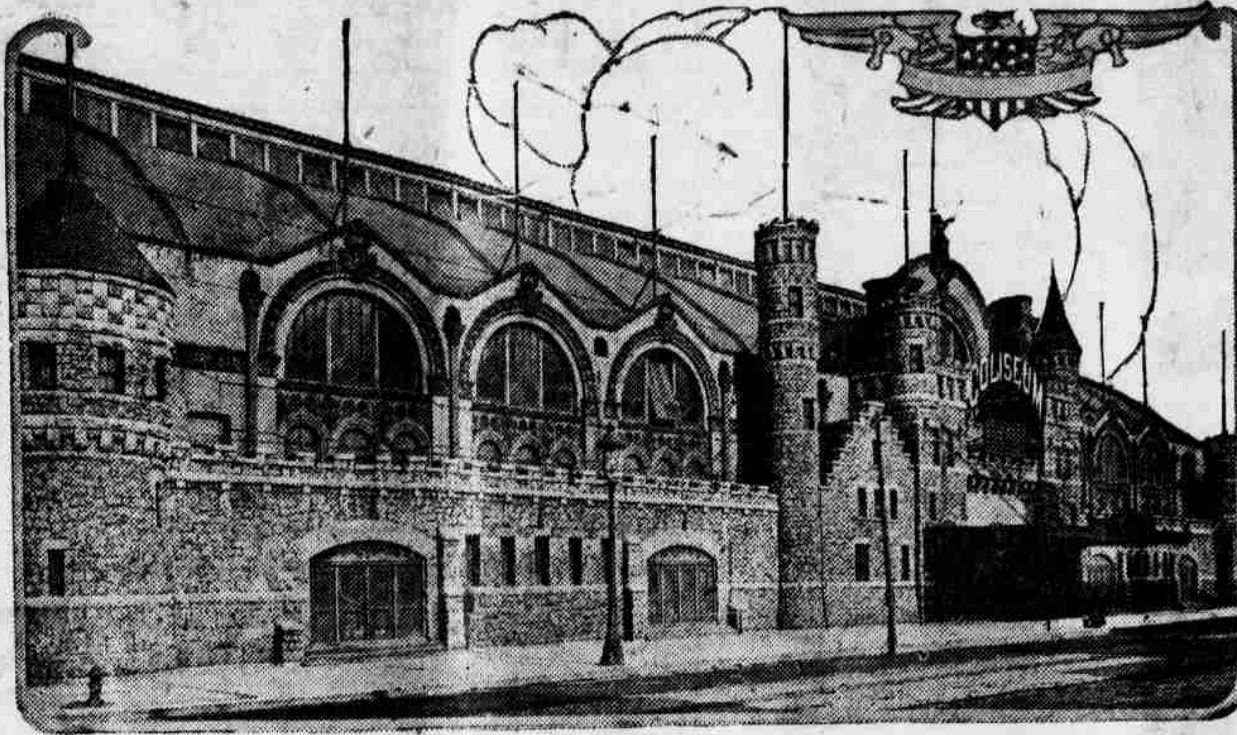

"Missouri is the home of the Frisco system, and the stockholders feel that it should be re-established under the auspices of the Missouri public service commission."

The Frisco was represented by W. C. Nixon and James W. Lusk, receivers, and W. F. Evans, general counsel. W. B. Biddle, the third receiver, did not attend the hearing.

A "RED DANGER SIGNAL."

Samuel M. Jordan Warns Farmers to Look Out for "Red Sorrel."

Mr. Samuel M. Jordan, farmers' institute lecturer of the Missouri State Board of Agriculture, makes the following statement, based on his experiences as a farmer and his investigations as to farm seeds:

This danger signal is not a flag, but a weed—and a bad one! It is easily recognized at this time, and is commonly known as "Red Topped Sorrel" or "Red Sorrel."

It starts in small spots and spreads by seed and root-stalks, and the spot grows rapidly larger each year until it will almost completely destroy meadows and pastures.

The tops or seed and blossom parts range from pale red to bright red. This makes the pest easily recognizable from May 15 to early June. Stems are slender, and from six inches to a foot tall commonly, and the leaves have a sort of lobe at each side toward ture mixture" unless he gets a government test, which he can by sending as much as a tablespoonful of seed to the Seed Testing Laboratory at Columbia, Mo., and at no cost except the postage for sending it. Every farmer in Missouri has this protection and he should most certainly make use of it. If the farmer sows impure seed, he will grow the same as he sows. The dealer cannot always sell better seeds than the farmers produce. Two classes, then, ought to know something about seeds, as an obligation rests on each.

the base. The roots are not large and run out under the surface, and new plants are sent up from the roots at short intervals. It is one of the hardest of all weeds to get rid of.

If work is begun before it spreads too much, it may be smothered out by covering heavily with manure or with straw. Heavy oiling or salting will kill it, but after it once spreads over a field there is no practical way to get rid of it that is known at this time.

Since it likes sour soil best, liming and manuring heavily will help to crowd it out with plants that like lime.

The juice of the plant is sour and is said to be poisonous to some kinds of stock when they accidentally eat it.

Be wise to your interests and stamp it out, as it has not yet much of a start in Missouri, but is certainly coming fast.

The writer has seen in other states thousands of acres of meadows, hill pastures and other lands, especially where the soil is sandy, overrun with this pest.

The seed is small and shaped like a buckwheat grain. They are commonly found in a rough hull of a reddish brown color. Seed are most commonly found in the seed of alsike clover and in pasture mixtures. The writer has not examined a "pasture mixture" put up by a seed house that did not contain seed of red top sorrel. A farmer should never buy a "pastery other way. It is headed by our sterling citizen, John Salzer, who is too well known to the citizens of Monett and vicinity to need any eulogizing from us. He has been a progressive, money-making business man here for more than twenty years, and a member of our school board about half that time. He will have full charge of the business, and the mill will be open from June 1 for the purpose of buying wheat. As soon as a first-class miller can be obtained the company will commence making flour.

A new idea for Monett, that of doing an exchange business with the farmers, will be instituted immediately.

Knowing Mr. Salzer and his reputation as we do, we bespeak for him a successful business from the start, with the hearty co-operation of our citizens in the town and country. It is important to both from every standpoint for their good that they stand loyally with this home institution.

Interested with Mr. Salzer in a small way the Messrs. C. W. and W. W. Lehnhard, C. C. Mills, Al Hafley and Frank Wightman.
